hospital soon will move out of the army buildings into a new and ultra modern building at the corner of Carson St. and Vermont Ave., east in Torrance —PRESS photo

Each room in the hospital has an outside window which will give the patients an excellent view of the surrounding area. —PRESS photo

LAST MINUTE cleaning up is carried out by the staff at the new Harbor General Hospital in preparation for the move from the old buildings, Jan. 25, 26, and 27. The new $15,000 building is a far cry from the original hospital, which consisted of 101 barracks-type buildings bought from the U.S. Army in 1946. With the completion of the new unit, the Los Angeles County General Hospital becomes the third largest in size of county hospitals in California. —PRESS photo

Red Cross First Aid Classes Slated to Open
Classes in both standard and advanced Red Cross first aid will be conducted simultaneously in Torrance, according to Walter West, first aid chairman, Torrance-Lomita branch.
"This is a wonderful opportunity for people living in our area to learn the latest Red Cross-approved first aid methods," West said. "The classes are a free Red Cross service taught by volunteer certified first aid instructors."
John W. Cooke, 2321 Eldorado St., will instruct the standard first aid class. Teaching the advanced first aid class will be Allen Quignon, 143 E. 216th St.
Both classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m., Fridays, starting Jan. 18 at the First Baptist Church of Torrance, 2113 Carson St.
Persons who wish to attend may either pre-register by telephoning FA 8-0510 or enroll at the first session of the class they choose to attend.
